Mo Manklang
Policy Director
mo@usworker.coop

Mo Manklang (she/they) is the Policy Director for the U.S. Federation of Worker Cooperatives, leading policy efforts at the federal level, as well as working with membership and partners on state and local priority-setting and organizing.

Mo has been a local and national organizer for cooperatives and social justice issues in a variety of roles, including five years with Philadelphia's social impact news and events group Generocity.org. A Philadelphia native, Mo is a founding board member of the Philadelphia Area Cooperative Alliance, and has had the privilege of serving many organizations throughout her career, including Philadelphia's Sustainable Business Network, and the Alliance for a Just Philadelphia, a grassroots coalition fighting for social and economic justice.
